

What is one trait you would most like to improve in yourself?

I am a very judgmental person and I realize it. I let things bother me that really shouldn't. Why should I care if someone dyes their hair blue or wears their pajama bottoms out in the world? Why do people live in dirty houses and have their yards full of junk?

Poor Bob, he gets to listen to all my complaints about things that really shouldn't matter one bit to me. I'm going to try to be better but I won't be and I know it.