

Have you ever written a poem or a story, and if so, do you still have it?

Joyce is telling me I need to share this. The first Valentine's Day after going with her I wrote a poem in her card. A teacher in home economics class picked up the card and read it. Luckily it was not a class I was in.

Joyce was very embarrassed.

Hey kids! Since I'm typing this for your Dad and I still remember the poem I'm going to share it

Need I tell you that I love you?

It seems I have before.

But, if you can't remember dear

I'll tell you just once more.

See why I'm still crazy about him?

Robert Fenneman

