

My Confession on New Years Eve 2021

Sitting in our nice warm living room this New Years Eve with one of my favorite people. I really don't care that we aren't going out.

This is my confession! Joyce actually wrote all my stories. That's why I can say she is one of my favorite people.

I did give her some ideas from time to time and always okayed them before they were posted.

Love all you kids, spouses, grandkids, great grandkids even though you rarely hear me say it.